#DIVERSITY

The municipality of Sylt is colourful. Every person is unique and so makes our society diverse. Diversity is not just a nice idea, but a duty, because diversity is enshrined in law.

Laws and treaties safeguard equal opportunities and equal treatment for all. The universal Declaration of Human Rights of United Nations states:

HUMAN DIGNITY
SHALL BE INVIOABLE

#WORTHKNOWING

More than quarter of all cases of discrimination concern the issues of racism and ethnic origin. For example, people report being the targets of ID checks by the security authorities just because of the colour of their skin or their appearance. Unfortunately, people with a foreign-sounding name are often turned away when looking for a place to live. Various studies also show that people with a foreign name or with a different religious affiliation, for example, repeatedly experience disadvantages when looking for work.

Fortunately, we can no longer imagine our everyday life without people from different cultures. They enrich the regional economy as well as our social life.

#UBUNTU / COMMUNITY

#INTEGRATION

The aim of integration is social participation. However, integration is not a one-way street. It is based on mutual benefits.

Acceptance, Respect and Tolerance - think smART, and use these principles to guide the way towards integration. Anyone wanting to live in Germany should definitely learn the German language. This makes family life and social coexistence much easier.

The municipality of Sylt offers German courses and much more at its Adult Education Centre.
